MORETON BAY REMOVES MERCHANT FEES FROM JULY 1

Moreton Bay Regional Council has announced it will remove merchant fees from all its transactions.

Corporate Services Spokesperson Councillor Matt Constance said beginning July 1, council would remove the 0.4 per cent merchant surcharge from payments made across all its platforms, including Australia Post, at its customer services, over the phone and online.

"Increasingly we're seeing customers use council's online tools and services to make payments, as opposed to making payments over the phone and in-person. The removal of these fees is in response to the changing ways residents and businesses make payments with council," Cr Constance said.

NEIGHBOURHOOD WATCH RESCUED

Community and residential safety organisation has been under duress (especially locally) for years due to lack of funding, now the state government has delivered additional funding needed to continue the good work.

Neighbourhood Watch are regionalised groups formed to work together as a community to improve personal safety and household security. One of the main tenets of Neighbourhood Watch is encouraging interaction and a sense of responsibility between neighbours and communities.

The previous government didn't include funding for the Neighbourhood Watch leaving the Queensland Police Service as the sole financial supporter.

The new funding arrangement guarantees Neighbourhood Watch can keep making Queensland a safer place.

The Public Safety Business Agency has advised it can add $125,000 annually. This combined with a $75,000 contribution from the Queensland Police Service this will deliver Neighbourhood Watch its $200,000 annual budget.

The Premier's Department has also provided a grant of $33,000 to support the Neighbourhood Watch annual conference.

$10,000 COMEDY COMPETITION: SERIOUS ABOUT LAUGHS

ICover Travel insurance is running an exciting comedy competition called 'The One Thing'. There is a first prize of $10,000 to the entry deemed 'funniest' by an expert comedy panel. Two runners up will receive $1,500 each.

Anyone who fancies themselves a comedian can upload a short video (2 minutes max) on the website theonething.tv answering the question "What's the one thing you shouldn't do on your holiday?"

The response can be anything from a one liner, a sketch, some storytelling, a slapstick silent film or even a song. Contestants can enter solo, with a partner, or with a team.

All the entries will be watched and judged by a panel of well-known Australian comedians and the judging criteria is simple: whoever makes them laugh the most. The judges and their responses will be filmed while they watch all the entries,

SINGLE-USE PLASTIC SHOPPING BAGS GONE FOR GOOD

The impacts of plastic pollution on our environment and especially on our marine life are a very real concern to the Queensland Government and the community.

It is estimated that close to one billion single-use lightweight plastic shopping bags are used in Queensland each year.

While the majority of these bags end up in landfill, around 16 million plastic shopping bags end up in the environment in Queensland each year. This is equivalent in weight to 96 small cars.

The ban, already in effect in some stores locally, comes into effect 1 July 2018, and a container refund scheme on 1 November 2018.

PLASTIC FREE JULY

Residents are invited to a Plastic Free July event in the Moreton Bay Region facilitated by Tim Silverwood - is a passionate advocate for protecting our oceans and environment from human impacts who sailed 5000km across the North Pacific Ocean to study the infamous Great Pacific Garbage Patch in 2011 and shared his experiences in a popular TEDx talk upon return.

A growing movement of people are becoming aware that our convenient, plastic-reliant lifestyle needs to change. Tim will discuss the impact of unsustainable pollution on our ocean and marine life, and the initiatives used to address these challenges. Following the film 'Blue', a Question and Answer workshop will be available for participants with Tim, and Council and Unitywater delegates.

The event is on Sunday July 8 2018, 10am - noon at North Lakes Community Hall - 10 The Corso, North Lakes. Bookings are essential via www.moretonbay.qld.gov.au

LOOKING FOR DIRECTION

Hi Leonie,

I am unhappy with my life and the way it is panning out. I coasted through school getting good grades with not much effort and then joined my father in a well known telecommunications company.

At twenty five, I married and now have a son. Two years ago I divorced and have had three short term and not very satisfactory relationships. I am not happy and have done some very stupid things, especially regarding my ex wife whom I can never take back.

I'm 36 now and am living with my mother again so that I can support my son and have a good family environment for him when I have him with me.

I don't feel very close to my son at the moment and that's something that makes me sad. I don't have many friends and people don't seem to like me.

I was raised in a catholic family and I think that this may have screwed me up a bit. I want to move towards the better future that you talk about in your advertisements but I need some guidance or at least a place to start.

Looking for direction/Redcliffe

Hello Looking for direction,

The first thing that I would like to explore with you is that only you can set your goals for the future and start moving in that direction. In life, we have to face the fact that not everyone will like us and that's ok. What really matters is whether or not we like ourselves. As children, many of us form our view of the world from our parents and the family of origin. These may include religious, cultural and political views, beliefs and opinions. However, as adults who have matured in ways that allow us to better evaluate these views, we should make our own decisions about these and other very important issues.

Take a good hard and reflective look at the values and beliefs of your family. Do an Autopsy on them and objectively check them to see if they have any validity to YOU. Now assess your findings. Do you really agree with your family of origin's views and values? Now think about what values and characteristics are important to you, which ones you would like to let go of and which ones you would like to be your new reality. Once you have decided on which beliefs and values you wish to adopt, you can more accurately measure yourself against this criteria and see where you would like to improve.

Ask yourself the "Miracle Question". The miracle question goes like this;

"If you went to bed tonight and when you woke in the morning a miracle had happened and everything in your life was now perfect. What's the first thing you notice?"

Where do you live, who is in your life and who isn't? Where do you work? What do you look like? This question may seem silly, but it's a really good way to think about what would make you happy and give a clear picture of the life you want. Once you have this information you are better placed to start setting new life goals. The Miracle Question is often the scaffold that professional Life Coaches build on to empower clients to achieve the life they want. Now you have an idea of what makes you happy, you can start looking for exceptions in the past where you experienced this happiness. What was the precedent and antecedents to the exception? Often when you work out how the exceptions came to be, you can recreate the conditions that allowed the exception to take place. For instance; if you felt particularly close to your son one day, you could look at that exception and see what set up this happy time. Were you playing outside? Did you pick your son up early and go to the beach etc? Once you know this information you can recreate it.

As for your regret over how you treated your ex wife, I would suggest a heartfelt apology may give you some closure and give everyone a glimpse of the new man that you are about to become followed by a steadfast commitment to never engage in those behaviours again.

Til next week, Leonie

AUSTRALIA'S BEST CARS ANNOUNCED

As car buyers are urged to be cautious buying during EOFYS

You've heard it before, if it sounds to be good to be true, it probably is. While there's no doubt you can snag a bargain during the End of Financial Year Sales, there's still a risk of being ripped off.

RACQ spokesperson Clare Hunter said buyers need to keep wits about them, just like any other time of year.

"We often see rock bottom prices around June, but make sure you're not being taken for a ride," Ms Hunter said.

"In some cases, these are just everyday prices dressed up EOFYS deals to fool unsuspecting buyers.

"If the price seems too good to be true, there's every chance new stock is about to come into the showroom and what you're being offered will soon be outdated.

"If you want a 2018 model for example, double check the date of manufacture, and specify this in the sale contract if need be."

Ms Hunter reminded drivers the cost of owning a car would continue once they left the dealership with registration, insurance, servicing, repayments and of course fuel.

Ms Hunter said while it was easy to fall for a cheap deal, motorists needed to look at how much the car would cost them four or five years down the track.

"Buying a car should be a considered, well-thought-out decision. Do your sums, know your budget and make sure you don't get talked into buying something you're not going to be able to afford in the long run."

Hot on the heels of the EOFYS comes the announcement of Australia's best cars in various categories, as tested by the various motoring bodies around the country

The groups, including RACQ and it's interstate equivalents put vehicles through vigorous tests in three categories including value for money, design and function (including safety) and on-road performance.

This year 160 cars were tested and 15 cars were announced as leading the field last week.

"In Australia, we're spoilt for choice when it comes to vehicles available to us. No matter your budget or preference, you can find a car that's the right fit for you and your family, safe in the knowledge it carries the tick of approval from our highly experienced judges drawn from all state motoring clubs, including RACQ," RACQ spokesperson Kirsty Clinton said.

One standout was the Subaru's Outback 2.5i Premium (from $47,580) fro the third year in a row, proving SUVs are a continuing favourite of the market and a very competitive category.

"There's been a real shift to downsizing from larger four-wheel-drives and away from traditional sedans and wagons, to smaller more compact AWDs due to their versatility. The Outback is a practical and capable all-rounder with plenty to offer buyers," Ms Clinton said.

For a more affordable small sedan, the testing named the Mazda 3 Maxx sport as a practical and affordable option citing recent Mazda safety upgrades as category leader.

Kia was named best option for family cars, with the Stinger 200S taking out the best large car category under 70k and the Kia Carnival SLI won the best family wagon.

Ms Hunter said best practice for buying a new car is to first think about what you want in a car, then think about your budget then head online to the "Australa's Best Car" website, for a full breakdown of all vehicles, full scorecards for every body, any budget, and any market.

LOCAL AUTHOR SET TO GO GLOBAL

North Lakes Author MJT Meijer to publish eight books in three series deal with US publisher

Like many locals Maria 'Tam' Meijer was born Overseas (rural Holland to be specific) and now lives in North Lakes. Much rarer is signing a traditional, eight-book, global, publishing deal with USA's Crimson Cloak Publishing.

It's a very big deal.

"I couldn't tell you how much this means to me," Meijer said when the Messenger spoke to her.

"It means a lot that someone professional in the industry thinks enough of my work to take it on; to put effort and money into it. So it's given me a lot of self-confidence."

The USA-based publishing house will be publishing eight books by Meijer, spanning three series: the Ben Smit series, the Samantha Jansen series and the Mum's the Word series by the local author, who writes under her full initials and surname, MJT Meijer.

Last Thursday Meijer officially launched the first title in the Ben Smit thriller series, Disbelief, at the North Lakes Hotel.

"Multiple mass-poisonings at Catholic pilgrimage sites throughout Europe. Sophie Pearson, successful artist, created paintings of the horrific events before they occurred," is the tagline for Disbelief.

Disbelief's blurb includes hints about forthcoming attacks, a nod toward the suspected antagonist and introduces the two protagonists: the Chief of Europol Dave Johnson and police consultant/psychic medium Ben Smit who will work through the thrilling plot, with an ominous note that they won't all make it to the finish line...

Disbelief (available now, details below) will be closely followed by Disregard in November this year, then Disorder and Disqualified with publishing dates TBD.

The Sam Jansen series is of the same ilk, fast-paced and thrilling, with titles Misguided and Misjudged. While the third series, taking a different tack is black comedy which Meijer describes as 'cozy crime - lighthearted and humorous'. The Mum's the Word series' first title is A Spade and a Bottle of Port.

With seven of the books already finished and now in the editing stages, Tam is prolific and skilled, a fact that hasn't escaped Crimson Cloak, who have already secured publishing rights to any future books written within the worlds of the aforementioned series.

"I NEVER DREAMED OF BEING A WRITER. I JUST DECIDED ONE DAY THAT WAS WHAT I WANTED TO DO AND I DID IT"

How did Meijer land this deal in an era notoriously difficult for unpublished writers?

"I never dreamed of being a writer. I just decided one day that was what I wanted to do and I did it," she said.

"It wasn't a dream. I made it a plan."

In November 2016, Meijer submitted her short story Perception to an online magazine's annual competition open to writers from Commonwealth countries. Her work was shortlisted from thousands of entries for inclusion in an anthology. This gave Meijer the confidence to submit her finished manuscripts to publishers, ultimately resulting in the three-series contract with Crimson Cloak Publishing.

For inspiration Meijer investigates motivation.

"I always like to know what triggers an action or decision. What beliefs are at the foundation of a person's view of life, what do they found their decision making on, and what reinforces or challenges those beliefs? These are the types of questions I ask my characters."

"I find people really interesting. What I find most interesting is what inspires and moves people to change their beliefs about the world around them, or of another person or a situation. That scenario is probably behind all the books that I write," she said.

So does the local author, on track to be a global success, have advice for other local aspiring writers?

"Join a writer's group. At writer's group we discuss writing techniques and give honest feedback. Like the friend who'll tell you your backside looks big in those jeans," she laughed.

"Writing is a great creative outlet. It's an opportunity to do something with a side of yourself that you don't often get to express. It doesn't have to be pretty or high-end literature, as long as you enjoy it."

If you want to meet Tam Meijer she co-facilitates a writer's group which meets in the North Lakes library every first Saturday of the month, 10.30am - 12.30pm. Bookings aren't required and she's happy to sign your purchased copies while you're there.

Disbelief by MJT Meijer is available now in paperback or ebook or wherever good books are sold including Amazon USA, Amazon UK, Amazon Australia, Barnes and Noble, Book Bepository, Worded, Booktopia and more.

YOUR STARS

AQUARIUS JAN 21- FEB 19: Don't stand waiting outside a closed door. If it doesn't open, another will. You're in the early stages of a venture and shouldn't wait on anyone.

PISCES FEB 20-MARCH 20: A compromise can only take place if both sides yield ground. And in case you're still wondering what that means, that means you.

ARIES MARCH 21-APRIL 20: It's nice to be in demand, but don't go with the first taker. If anything, circulate news that you're looking. This increases your value.

TAURUS APRIL 21-MAY 21: No sooner do you commit to a new direction than you get signs of encouragement. Can you trust them? Yes. But skepticism is healthy too.

GEMINI MAY 22-JUNE 21: Someone you felt would quit winds up rising to the challenge after all. Moreover s/he surpasses expectations. Plant a slap on the back.

CANCER JUNE 22-JULY 23: Most people would rest on their laurels, but not you. Things stagnate once you stop moving. It's a good time to make the rounds.

LEO JULY 24-AUG 23: Sometimes it's not tough talk, but commiseration that gets people back on their feet. Share a tale or two from the school of hard knocks.

VIRGO AUG 24-SEPT 23: Accenting the positive pays off. Supporting loved ones in their efforts gets them to reciprocate. It's a win-win combination.

LIBRA SEPT 24-OCT 23: Keep going. Even if things don't turn out as expected, you will still have something to show for yourself at the end of the day.

SCORPIO OCT 24-NOV 22: You want terms to be spelled out on paper, but this time you're just going to have to trust that people will deliver. Invest in good faith and you'll reap the returns.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 23-DEC 21: The Moon in sagittarius brings good news regarding finances. You may not be out of the woods yet, but it's nice to see cash flow flowing again.

CAPRICORN DEC 22 -JAN 20: Don't bring up a past disappointment casually or it falls on deaf ears. Guilt tripping only works if you've a clear destination.

QUEENSLAND THEATRE'S GOOD MUSLIM BOY

Date: July 12 to August 4

Location: Cremorne Theatre, QPAC

What does it mean to be a good Muslim boy? You probably shouldn't gawk at girls in bikinis or fake a medical degree. If you must be an actor, you shouldn't play a gay man on television, or Saddam Hussein in a post 9/11 American musical. And you definitely, definitely shouldn't leave an arranged bride at the altar.

Osamah Sami, son of one of Australia's leading Islamic clerics has done all of the above.

Drawing from his award-winning novel of the same name and his recent smash hit film Ali's Wedding, Good Muslim Boy recounts Osamah's hilarious and heartbreaking personal history, and the beauty and contradictions found at the cross currents of two cultures.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS TAKING STEPS TO BE RECOGNISED AS A PROFESSION

Education and training standards will be raised far beyond those currently required

Real estate agents across Australia are taking steps to be recognised as a profession which will see benefits to the consumer, according to the Real Estate Institute of Australia.

The Real Estate Institute of Australia (REIA) is the national professional association for real estate agents in Australia and are currently in the process of creating a National Professional Standards Scheme for the Real Estate Industry, with the stated goals of:

- Raising the bar on ethics and practice standards for the betterment of consumers
- Transforming the service experience to exceed consumer expectations
- Becoming more valuable and relevant in a rapidly changing world whilst still retaining the emotive human element
- Setting new education standards to meet the required skill levels of our clients' needs

- Addressing and influencing regulatory creep caused by poor consumer experiences
- Providing Professional Agents with a readily identifiable consumer "mark" for personal and community credibility
- Creating an environment where Professional Agents are considered as Trusted Advisors
- Holding Professional Agents accountable to their standards and commitments
- Showing Agents there is a better more collaborative way, The Pathway to be a Professional
- Creating the blueprint for a thriving career in a new transparent and evolved era, and ;
- Guiding Professional Agents on the way to service innovation and consumer care

"On behalf of its member Real Estate Institutes, REIA has applied to the Professional Standards Authority for admission as a profession," REIA President Malcolm Gunning said.

"The Authority is an independent statutory body established with specific responsibilities under professional standards legislation for assessing and approving applications for, and supervising the application of, Professional Standards Schemes," he said.

"For those agents wishing to pursue a professional path, education and training standards will be raised far beyond those currently required for regulatory purposes which will result in significant consumer benefits. "REIA is completing four distinct and demanding phases as part of the process which is expected to be finalised by the end of 2019," he said.

Mr Gunning said in addition there will be a uniform robust code of ethics that participating professionals will need to adhere to and a set of auditable accountability commitments to maintain membership.

"Individuals will need firstly to be members of their state Real Estate Institute and then pass rigorous tests to achieve recognition.

"This scheme will not be for all agents as only those prepared to raise the bar on their own standards, skills, education, performance and commitments will qualify."

Mr Gunning said as a result there will be two types of practitioners; real estate professionals who are members of the scheme and those outside the rigors of the scheme.

"Consumers will have a clear choice between a valued professional and the low cost listing services entering the industry and they will be able to determine the value and effectiveness of both when they come to sell their property.

"It is expected that state and federal Governments across Australia will also welcome the move as has already been documented in the NSW Parliament.

"We are forging a new direction for the industry, and as a result better experiences and outcomes for property consumers," Mr Gunning said.

NON-CONFORMING POOL FENCE RECALLED

A non-conforming pool fence sold nationally by Clark Rubber has been recalled due to safety concerns.

Minister for Housing and Public Works Mick de Brenni issued the product recall after an investigation by the Queensland Building and Construction Commission.

"I've ordered Clark Rubber to recall the 'Be-Safe Pool Fence - Portable Pool Fence Starter Kit' after it failed three tests of building product safety," Mr de Brenni said.

"It has failed the relevant Australian Standard for pool safety, it has failed to meet the standard required by Queensland's non-conforming building product legislation, and it's simply failed community standards.

"The gate system of the kit failed the pool safety standard on numerous occasions but significantly the area of biggest concern is the latch that is required to be self-latching when it isn't, as well as gaps in the fence allowing prohibited access to the latch.

"QBCC tests found that the latch doesn't close and secure itself properly and this completely defeats its safety purpose.

"In January this year, a consumer contacted the QBCC after a child was able to reach inside the fence and undo the latch and open the gate.

"This is an accident waiting to happen, and I'm pleased the QBCC acted swiftly to investigate and advise me of the issue.

"Ensuring the safety of our community is my number one priority."

The product is manufactured by Hunter Products Pty Ltd and is sold nationally throughout the Clark Rubber stores.

The QBCC obtained two samples of the product and conducted testing of both samples, after installing the products in accordance with their instructions.

Minister de Brenni issued the product recall after Clark Rubber refused to initiate a voluntary product recall requested by the QBCC.

Clark Rubber have now agreed to initiated a voluntary product recall Australia-wide.

"After I advised Clark Rubber I of my intention to recall the product, they have advised they will also initiate a national recall.

"The Queensland product recall sets enforceable requirements of Clark Rubber to ensure the recall is done appropriately and with accountability in this state."

It's the first time a product has been recalled under the new non-conforming building product legislation introduced in Queensland in November last year.

Anyone who has purchased this product is urged to return them to a Clark Rubber store immediately and are entitled to a full refund.
