DISNEY ON ICE CELEBRATES 100 YEARS OF MAGIC

THE MUST-SEE MAGICAL EVENT OF THE YEAR IS COMING TO BRISBANE JUNE 29 TO JULY 2 AND WE'VE GOT EIGHT TICKETS TO WIN!

Everyone's favourite characters of the Disney-verse are getting their skates on and heading to Brisbane this June and it's going to be HUGE. Instead of focussing on instant-classic Frozen like last year's (amazing) outing, this year Disney On Ice celebrates 100 Years of Magic is bringing more than 14 timeless Disney tales to life, on ice.

Mouse-ter of Ceremonies Mickey Mouse, his sweetheart Minnie Mouse, and mates Donald Duck and Goofy will take to the ice with their friends from classic and modern Disney movies alike. From Pinocchio to Frozen, showgoers will be treated to a once in a lifetime spectacle with Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, Cinderella, Beauty and the Beast, Toy Story, The Lion King, Finding Nemo, Frozen and more. Disney On Ice celebrates 100 Years of Magic will dazzle with magical moments and over 30 favourite Disney songs.

Making their Disney On Ice debut, Judy Hopps and Nick Wilde from Zootopia enlist the crowd to help solve an off-ice caper that must be cracked for the on-ice action to begin. Guests will also enjoy a special appearance by royal sisters Anna and Elsa from the number one animated feature film of all time, Disney's Frozen. Enter the kingdom of Arendelle and journey up the North Mountain with hilarious snowman Olaf and rugged mountain-man Kristoff as they help the sisters discover that true love conquers all.

Produced by Feld Entertainment, Disney On Ice celebrates 100 Years of Magic will open in Brisbane on June 29 with 9 shows in total at Brisbane Entertainment Centre, finishing on July 2.

Tickets are on sale now at www.Ticketek.com.au/DisneyOnIce

ALL OR NOTHING - ALTERNATE VOICE FOR TODAY'S YOUTH

School2Stage (S2S) is a platform for young performers across Australia that sees professional Directors sent into local high schools to work alongside students. Together they create unique shows that are then performed on the biggest stages, and one them is the Brisbane Powerhouse.

Between June 19 - June 23 S2S will hit the Brisbane Powerhouse's Visy Theatre with eight entirely different shows written, created and performed by the young people of Brisbane. No restrictions, No Guidelines.

Billed as "An alternative and much needed voice!" and "What's important to the youth of our city?", the productions will showcase the work of over 150 performers between the ages of 13-19 over the four days, it's the largest performative event for young people in Queensland.

Titled All or Nothing the shows take place nightly between 6pm and 7:30pm and tickets cost just $24 - $30.

TOUGH NEW LAWS PROPOSED TO RESTORE TRUST IN COUNCILS

The state Government will seek new powers to suspend or dismiss Mayors and Councillors who are facing serious integrity charges when State Parliament resumes this week.

The Government will also ask Parliament to vote for a new power to suspend or dismiss a Council, Mayor or Councillor when it's in the public interest.

With Mayors and Councillors in some of our biggest Councils facing dozens of criminal charges the reputation of Local Governments in Queensland have collectively taken a hit and resident suspicions are at an all time high.

The changes to the Local Government Act include:

- an automatic suspension for any Mayor or Councillor charged with one of a series of serious integrity offences; and
- an expansion of the powers of the Local Government Minister to dismiss or suspend a Council, a Councillor or Mayor in the public interest.

The Government's Councillor Complaints Bill - which has been re-introduced after lapsing when the 2017 State Election was called - is also expected to be debated.

MOST EXPENSIVE CITY FOR TRANSPORT - BRISBANE

A new report has revealed transport costs in Brisbane had increased by a whopping $249 per year, making the River City the most expensive capital city in the country to get around.

Rising compulsory CTP, car loan payments and public transport costs had contributed to the jump, while all toll road tolls, apart from the AirportlinkM7, go up in line with the Consumer Price Index.

RACQ spokesperson Paul Turner said motorists had every right to be frustrated.

"We're paying too much to get around and unfortunately these costs keep going up. From 1 July there'll be more pain for Queensland motorists when rego and driver licence fees increase by 3.5 percent," he said.

Chris Whiting MP and North Lakes Ambulance Service OIC Graham Allen Check out the cabin controls

Assistant Commissioner for Metro North Ambulance Service Chris Bloomfield said NLAS runs at full capacity most days

The new vehicle, staffed by a specialised mixture of drivers and paramedics, can carry two patients and was built locally

LOCAL LIVES IN SAFE HANDS

New, state of the art vehicle delivered to North Lakes Ambulance station

The North Lakes Ambulance Station is the largest in Queensland with a fleet of 11 vehicles and 34 staff. The drivers of the fleet of high-tech vehicles work 10-12 hour shifts - with appropriate breaks - and each of the vehicles work constantly throughout the day.

Located in the heart of our region on Gregor Street North lakes, it's a busy station with every vehicle on site called into the field 8-10 times per day. So it was great news when Chris Whiting MP Member for Bancroft handed over the keys to a new vehicle at the local station last Thursday.

Built locally by a company called Varley located in the Narangba Innovation Precinct, what really matters for those unfortunate to ride in the back of the new vehicle is that it's bigger, can take more equipment and has cutting edge devices installed.

At the handover, Assistant Commissioner for the local Metro North Ambulance Service Chris Bloomfield told the Messenger that the North Lakes Ambulance Service currently runs at full capacity most days. They have built in redundancies for staff and vehicle relief to keep both staff and vehicle running optimally. He said our local station is one that runs well.

"At the moment we're manned to the workload, which is really good, but we have the capacity for surge as well. If we get really busy at times we're able to move resources around Brisbane, wherever that might be," Mr Bloomfield said.

New equipment means better outcomes for patients Assistant Commissioner Bloomfield told us.

"Medical equipment is constantly changing and we are always looking at advancing our vehicles. This considers the best possible equipment that [the vehicles] can take, road conditions, driver training, everything we can do for best possible care," he said.

Chris Whiting MP, Member for Bancroft, was honoured to deliver the keys to Mr Bloomfield and the station's Officer in Charge Graham Allen last Thursday.

"What a pleasure it is to deliver this new resource to our hardworking ambulance officers and to our station at North Lakes," Mr Whiting said.

"This specialised patient transport van is a $230,000 investment by the Palaszczuk Government in the region," Mr Whiting said.

"The vehicle can carry two patients and is staffed by a specialised mixture of drivers and paramedics depending on the needs of the patients."

"It carries state of art equipment for patients, but also to ensure the safety of Queensland Ambulance staff and other road users."

"These features include lane sensors, rear sensors and the Emergency Vehicle Priority system, which triggers a green light at compatible intersections."

As reported in the Messenger last year, Emergency Vehicle Priority is an emerging technology that enables emergency vehicles to automatically trigger traffic light sequences to change along the most direct route when responding to an emergency call.

This means a green traffic light signal is given to emergency vehicles when it's safe to do so. By clearing the path ahead emergency vehicles can respond quicker to emergencies.

The Queensland Ambulance Service (QAS) is an integral part of the primary healthcare sector in Queensland through the delivery of timely, patient-focussed ambulance services.

The QAS operates as a statewide service within Queensland Health, and is accountable for the delivery of pre-hospital ambulance response services, emergency and non-emergency pre-hospital patient care and transport services, inter-facility ambulance transport, casualty room services, and planning and coordination of multi-casualty incidents and disasters.

The QAS delivers ambulance services from 290 response locations through 15 Local Ambulance Service Networks (LASNs), geographically aligned with Queensland Health's Hospital and Health Services' boundaries. The Metro North LASN covers our region.

In an emergency, call 000.

For medically authorised non-urgent transport bookings phone 131 233.

ON OUR COVER: Chris Whiting MP Member for Bancroft hands the keys to the new 230K vehicle to NLAS OIC Graham Allen and Metro North Ambulance Service Assistant Commissioner Chris Bloomfield last Thursday.

GIVING WAY TO EMERGENCY VEHICLES THIS COULD SAVE A LIFE

If an emergency vehicle (Police, fire or ambulance) is coming towards you and is sounding an alarm or showing flashing red or blue lights, it's important to know what you should do, in fact, it's the law. You must move out its path as soon as you can do so safely. According to the Queensland Department Of Transport and Main Road, you should:

- slow down
- move left to give the vehicle a clear run down the middle of the road. If you can't move left safely, stay where you are and let the emergency vehicle overtake you
- not move your vehicle suddenly
- not drive into the path of the emergency vehicle.

The law allows you to drive onto the wrong side of the road or drive through a red traffic light to get out of the way of an emergency vehicle if it is safe to do so. Watch out for emergency vehicles by looking ahead and checking your mirrors regularly.

5 WAYS TO WINTER-PROOF YOUR WORKOUT

There's no off-season for staying healthy

Stick to your goals

warm up and cool down

Embrace the outdoors

As the temperatures drop don't be tempted to hang up your exercise gear and hibernate - use the change in seasons as a chance to mix up your workouts and reignite your love of fitness.

It's important to stay active all year round, as regular exercise helps you maintain a healthy body weight, improves energy levels and feelings of wellbeing and reduces your risk of chronic disease, including some cancers.

To help Queensland families get moving and stay healthy, Cancer Council Queensland CEO Ms Chris McMillan has shared five tips.

One, stick to your goals.

Revisiting your goals and planning out what you'd like to accomplish over the next few months can help you get motivated and stay accountable. You could commit to an event, set a goal to achieve a certain amount of steps using a pedometer, or decide to take part in a Parkrun near you a certain amount of times.

Two, take up a winter sport or active hobby.

Whether it's an indoor pursuit, like heading to a squash court or heated pool, a boot camp class, or playing touch football or netball, there's nothing like committing to a new class or sports team to keep you moving.

Three, don't forget to warm up and cool down.

Start stretching and do bodyweight exercises, like jumping jacks and push ups, as soon as you get up. You'll get your heart rate going before heading out into the brisk weather and it will make it very difficult to go back to bed. Stretching post-workout is crucial—but particularly in the cold-weather to keep your body safe from injury.

Four, plan out wet weather options.

On rainy days get some hand weights or stretch bands to use at home for resistance exercise, use an online exercise video or smartphone app to stay in shape. For families with kids, you can get creative with active play, setting up a treasure hunt in your home, or having a dance party in the lounge.

Five, embrace the outdoors.

Layer up to make sure you are warm enough and head for a bike ride or go with the whole family for a hike on the weekend. Breathe in the fresh air and bring along water, a hot thermos and warm, wholesome snacks to keep you going. Don't forget to slop on minimum SPF 30+ broad-spectrum, water-resistant sunscreen, as sun protection is required all year round in Queensland, even in the cooler months.

Around one quarter of all cancers can be prevented through being physically active and eating a healthy diet, so it's vital to plan in one hour of moderate activity or 30 minutes of vigorous activity into everyday life.

More information about Cancer Council Queensland and healthy living is available at cancerqld.org.au.

FREE LEGAL HELP FOR PEOPLE EXPERIENCING DOMESTIC AND FAMILY VIOLENCE

During Domestic and Family Violence Prevention Month, Legal Aid Queensland has reminded Queenslanders about the range of legal help it offers to people experiencing domestic and family violence.

Legal Aid Queensland domestic violence lawyer Fionna Fairbrother said the organisation helped people experiencing violence to understand and protect their legal rights.

"If someone is experiencing domestic violence they can call us on 1300 65 11 88 to get information about their legal rights so they can better understand their options," Ms Fairbrother said.

"Safety is our number one priority for people experiencing domestic violence. Everyone's situation is different so our domestic violence prevention workers talk to women to help them plan for and protect their personal and family safety."

Ms Fairbrother said Legal Aid Queensland took a holistic approach to client support to make sure people experiencing domestic violence could access all the support services they need.

"We regularly refer people to counselling, women's shelters, health services, financial counselling and other community support or government services as required," she said.

"If a woman decides to apply for a protection order our domestic violence protection workers will explain the court process and can help her to complete a protection order application.

"When it's time to go to court, both parties can access our Domestic and Family Violence Duty Lawyer Service which is now available in 15 locations across Queensland."

The duty lawyer provides free legal advice to people applying for and responding to protection order applications who need to appear in court that day. Staff will talk about their ongoing eligibility for legal aid if needed.

"Brisbane Magistrates Court is one of the busiest courts dealing with domestic violence matters so we base domestic violence prevention workers at this court to give free, confidential help to women who need to appear in court that day for their domestic violence matter," Ms Fairbrother said.

Anyone experiencing domestic violence can call Legal Aid Queensland on 1300 65 11 88, visit one of our 14 offices across Queensland, or visit our website www.legalaid.qld.gov.au to get free information and publications about your legal rights and how to get legal help.

HOW CAN I BE A CONFIDENT OPERATOR WITHOUT BEING ACCUSED OF HAVING A BIG EGO?

Hello Leonie,

I'm very upset as I write this email. I have recently been transferred against my wishes and told that I need to pull my head in and calm down my ego if I want to keep my new posting.

I am told to be confident and then told not to be full of myself. I am also recovering from a breakup from a lovely man. We were together for three years and I am kicking myself because he wanted to come to you for relationship counselling and I didn't think we needed it and now he's gone. He said that I dominated conversations and talked over his friends and the big one, I talked over his precious mother.

Twenty, twenty hindsight is a great thing but now he's gone, and I can't change anything and he won't even take my calls. So, my career is in the toilet and I have lost my love.

My brother and his wife have pulled away from me and said that I always try to trump everyone. This started because she did a piddly little Cert 4 in aged care and the family threw her a congratulations party. I have a flipping degree! Nobody threw a party for me. And let's face it anyone can complete a Cert 4 and not everyone can complete a degree. But yes, I know I shouldn't point this out, I just felt unappreciated. My ex was embarrassed and asked to leave early, and my brother showed us the door.

Look I am a really good person and I give to charity and I would love to have the power to cure cancer. If I could I would spend my whole life curing people. I'm 36 and running out of time to marry and start a family – I am feeling so wretched about starting this new job.

How can I be a confident operator without being accused of having a big ego? They teach you one thing and then expect you to do something else. I can't see myself hiding my knowledge. Help please!

Nanme withheld

Hi,

You can only be helped if you are willing to put the work in. Consider taking a good hard look at your past and do an autopsy on all your relationships. You say that you are a good person and you give an example of this by saying that you would like to have the power to go around curing people of cancer. Can you spot the great big fat ego flag in that statement? I too would love to put an end to cancer but it doesn't have to me that has the power. If I had a wish, I would wish that there was no more cancer in the world. I don't need credit for it or to be seen as the one to make it happen. I just want it gone.

I would also like to mention that I teach age care and not everyone can achieve a Certificate in Age Care and you need to realise that there is no such thing as a "piddly" qualification. All accredited courses have strict criteria and are no walk in the park. In terms of relationships, actively and mindfully try to be more modest and appreciate the talents of others. In a social setting, nothing is more annoying than a pontificating "know it all". I feel that you owe your brother an apology for your treatment of his wife and his hospitality. Remember, he didn't have to invite you to his home. In relation to your ex, even if you managed to win him back and change your behaviours, he would always have the memories of how you behaved and how you treated his mother. Why not turn this latest breakup into "break over" where you finally learn from your mistakes and start developing healthy relationships.

Now you ask how to be a confident operator without ego and this is quite simple. I would never advise anyone to play dumb in the work place, but you need to find a balance where you can offer ideas but also really listen to others and appreciate that no matter what walk of life a person comes from, they have lots to offer the team and the organisation. If you start seeing your degree as something to hold over someone's head, you are really missing the point of a cohesive and productive work environment. Keep your eye on your productivity in your own role and when you have a success, keep it to yourself. Others will notice you are good at your job and they will also notice that you don't skite, compare your performance to others or down play your workmates achievements.

And remember if you want to operate as a "trumper" (someone who always has to trump others) there is always going to be someone who can trump you. Not all talent, skill and problem-solving ability comes from a formal education and in fact, I would say that I have seen many people in my working career with the right set of qualifications who don't have a clue how to employ this academic knowledge or work in the real world.

Til next week, Leonie

YOUR STARS

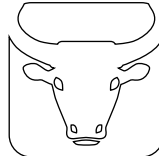

Aquarius Jan 21- Feb 19: If others want to complain about your job performance then offer to pass their responsibilities back to them. This ensures they'll keep quiet in the future.

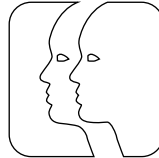

Pisces Feb 20- March 20: A sentiment you profess to no longer possess snakes its way back into your heart. Its proof positive that loves is thicker than ire.

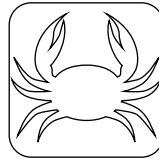

Aries March 21-April 20: There was a time when you had to be accommodating, but now you can play hard to get. Work it, but remember that you still want to be caught.

Taurus April 21- May 21: You could be holding someone back without meaning too. If you truly want the best for this person then loosen your hold. It's the best way to show support.

Gemini May 22-June 21: Don't get flustered. Review the recent conversation instead. You may have been so vague that colleagues thought you were saying yes when you meant no.

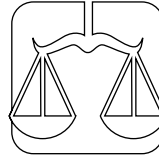

Cancer June 22-July 23: You frown upon one person bending a rule, but smile when somebody else does the same. Careful, your favouritism is showing.

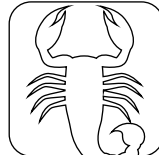

Leo July 24-Aug 23: You could rekindle an old spark if you let the past be the past. Pride is cold comfort when dealing with matters of the heart.

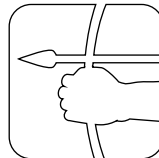

Virgo Aug 24- Sept 23: You have a point, but so does the other party. Why fight toe to toe over whose right when you can put your heads together instead.

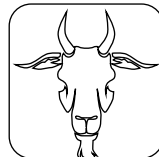

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23: Most people don't put half your energy into cultivating relationships. But then again, they don't have your wealth of support to draw from.

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22: Accenting the positive isn't just hokey advoce. It serves a very real purpose- especially if you want things to turn out nicely.

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21: It took a while but your back to hobnobbing with movers and shakers. You'll find that success is sweeter the second time around.

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20: Accommodate everyone, but don't do it in the same way. Decide who deserves quality and who can make do with quantity.

RENTAL VACANCY RATES IMPROVE STATE-WIDE

The March quarter vacancy rate data reveals generally improving rental markets across Queensland, according to REIQ's Q1 2018 Vacancy Rate report

Regional Queensland, in particular, has delivered good results in the wake of a two or three bleak years.

REIQ CEO Antonia Mercorella said the regional vacancies improvements this quarter followed, broadly speaking, similar small improvements in 2017 Q4, and that these small but steady improvements were the hallmarks of Queensland real estate.

"Some of our markets, such as the Gold and Sunshine coasts, remain uncomfortably tight and we would like to see more investors enter those markets, however APRA's tightened lending criteria is not encouraging investors to consider property. The result is tight markets remain tight, despite good opportunities for landlords in those markets," she said.

Greater Brisbane's vacancy rates eased by 0.1 per cent to 2.7 per cent, which remains a healthy market.

Looking more closely at this region, Brisbane LGA also eased 0.1 per cent to 3.1 per cent, which indicates a healthy market for a second consecutive quarter.

Zooming in closer, the inner ring (0-5km radius) tightened and returned from the weak range to a healthy 3.5 per cent. This is good news for this market as it reflects good rental options for tenants, and good opportunity for landlords to secure good tenants.

The middle ring (5-20km) eased slightly, moving from the tight to the healthy range and recording a vacancy rate of 2.8 per cent.

"It's gratifying to see that all areas of the Brisbane rental market are operating in the healthy range and this start to impact speculation about oversupply," Ms Mercorella said. "The data shows a very resilient market capable of absorbing the perceived oversupply."

"GREATER BRISBANE'S VACANCY RATES EASED BY 0.1 PER CENT TO 2.7 PER CENT, WHICH REMAINS A HEALTHY MARKET"

Ipswich tightened marginally, moving from 3.1 to 3.0 per cent, but has maintained its position as a healthy rental market.

"This area is really a growth corridor for Queensland and we're seeing buyers and renters flocking to this part of the southeast corner. It's great news that the rental market is maintaining its stability and healthy status," Ms Mercorella said.

The Logan rental market eased 0.2 per cent to reach a still-tight 2 per cent vacancy rate. Historical trends put this market at around 2 per cent to 3 per cent, an indication that this market is operating business as usual.

Moreton Bay tightened by 0.2 per cent to 1.4 per cent. This market is generally a tight market and it is one of Queensland's fastest growing regions.

Redland eased 0.2 per cent but remained tight, with a March vacancy rate of 2.4 per cent.

The Gold Coast held steady at 1.1 per cent. This market was measured in the lead-up to the Commonwealth Games and it will be interesting to see how the next two to three quarters shake out as visitors leave the region. Early next year, the Athletes Village will be redeveloped into a Health and Knowledge Precinct including mixed-use residential precincts with more than 1100 apartments.

"Our hope is that these units will find investor buyers and this could contribute to easing the tight rental conditions in this beautiful part of the world," Ms Mercorella said.

The Sunshine Coast, overall, has a vacancy rate of 1 per cent. Caloundra, along with Gympie, has the tightest vacancy rate in Queensland, with just 0.5 per cent of properties vacant.

"The Sunshine Coast is very challenging for renters who are looking for accommodation and we have said consistently for quite some time that this market would benefit from additional investor activity. The upward pressure on rents, as a result of this tight vacancy rate, will serve to push this market towards unaffordable," Ms Mercorella said.

Noosa is also very tight, at just 0.8 per cent.

"It's no surprise that renters are flocking to this market – it's such a stunning part of the world with employment opportunities – but additional supply into this market would be very beneficial," Ms Mercorella said.

Fraser Coast, which is made up of Hervey Bay and Maryborough, is a tight market, although it has eased somewhat. Fraser Coast has moved from 1.6 per cent in December to 1.9 per cent in March. Hervey Bay is now 1.8 per cent – a tight market – and Maryborough is now 2.5 per cent, which is a healthy market.

Cairns has also eased from 1.6 per cent to 2.1 per cent, moving this popular destination closer to a healthy rental market.
