“Breathe Easy” Air Treatment Solutions

by James Scott, Assistant Manager at Harvey Norman Rothwell

Air Purification - Most commonly air purification is a reactive purchase to a problem. People with allergies, Asthma and even skin sensitivities will most often seek a solution to a pre-existing condition. But why would people without these conditions consider purifying the air they breathe at home?

Air Purifiers do just that, they clean and purify the air in your home that you and your family breathe all day. From pollens to dust, bacteria's and mould/spore build up all the way to the odours left behind by your beloved family pets. Air Purifiers will cleanse the environment that you live in so that you can “breathe easy” knowing that the air in your home is free from any impurities that are left behind after regular cleaning.

Humidifiers –

If you experience dry and sensitive skin a Humidifier is the perfect way to relieve the discomfort of the dry seasons. No more static shocks, humidifiers produce a constant level of humidity to condition the air. Humidifiers can also suppress airborne viruses transmitted by coughing, making your home healthier, happier and more comfortable.

Dehumidifiers -

People in tropical climates know all too well the effects of a high humidity environment.

High moisture levels in the air can make your home environment quite uncomfortable. However the benefits of a

Dehumidifier go further than just making you home comfortable, they also provide a range of health benefits making your home less hospitable to allergens such as dust mites, Diffusers – Using a diffuser is one of the most effective ways to disperse essential oils in your home. Essential oils provide your home with numerous health benefits. Citrus to boost immunity, Peppermint to open airways or relieve headaches and Lavender to boost your mood and help you to relax. Three great examples of how essential oils can change the environment in your home.

What are the THREE things you should ask your DENTIST?

A visit to the dentist is usually at the bottom of everybody's list of fun things to do, but a thorough examination and regular preventive care visits can end up saving you a lot of money and it may just help you keep your teeth. It's important that you know what to expect and what to ask, to ensure your next dental visit is everything it should be.

What should my dentist do?

Your dental visit should consist of a thorough examination which checks the health of your teeth, your gums, airway and the bones and joints that form the foundations for good dental health. Radiographs or x-rays should be done at your initial visit and then every couple of years to check for decay and infection that may not be visible on the surface of the tooth. Your dentist should discuss any concerns you have and offer a choice of treatment options for you to consider. Very rarely is there only one option available.

How do I know there is really something wrong?

Gone are the days where you have to take a doctor's word that a problem exists. Modern technology means you can expect to see the problem for yourself. Digital radiographs, intra-oral cameras and 3-D scanning equipment means that your dentist can show you areas of decay, infection, narrowing of the airway, cracked or broken fillings, bone loss and joint problems. You have a right to see what is happening in your mouth and you should be encouraged to play an active part in deciding how to manage the problem.

What should my dentist charge?

There are no set fees for dental treatment in Australia. Some dental practices will offer "no gap payments" for some procedures if you have health insurance with some of the larger funds, but be careful that you are being offered the best choice, not just the cheapest choice or the choice that your insurance company wants you to make. As with most things, you generally get what you pay for and when you are comparing the cost of dental treatment, it is important that you are comparing the same treatment, using the same materials, not just the same item codes. Look toward some of the non-insurance based plans such as smile.com.au to help with lower fees. Ask about guarantees and also about interest free payment plans to help you choose the best treatment options. Remember, dentistry is not expensive, neglect is!!!

THE 100 CLUB

Nine centenarians, including two local ladies were honoured at the annual Centenarian Club morning tea at Brisbane City Hall last week

When you have more than 900 years of stories to share, morning tea can be quite an event. Last week new and returning Centenarians at Bolton Clarke's second Centenarian Club morning tea as part of International Day of Older Persons celebrations.

The special guests included locals Thelma Sprott, 102 and Eileen "Mackie" Sutton, who will celebrate her 103rd birthday on Saturday, 6 October, both from Inverpine residential aged care community at Murrumba Downs, Thelma Sprott was born on 28 November, 1916 in Canungra. She attended Sherwood Primary from there she attended High School at Brisbane State High loving school and the sports of Hurdling and Netball.

In 1930 Thelma got a job at Morrows Biscuits, which she took as it helped the family. She worked there for 10 years until she was married. She says her claim to fame was hand icing Iced Vovo Biscuits.

Thelma remembers the depression years when her mum would make briefs (bloomers they were called) from Sea Foam Flour bags of white calico, the Sea Foam print would not always wash out and you could have it written across your bottom.

Thelma met her husband Eric Sprott when her older sister married Eric's brother. They courted for 15 months before marrying on 19th April 1941. They honeymooned at Redcliffe and rented a house in Corinda for 10 Shillings a week. Thelma and Eric had four, nine Grandchildren and 18 Great Grandchildren.

A very popular resident at the Inverpine residential aged care community, Thelma is a Life Member of Pine Rivers Rowing Club and a few months ago the clubhouse was named in her honour the "Thelma Sprott Boathouse".

Eileen Sutton, known as "Mackie", was born in Derbyshire, England on 6 October, 1915. During World War II her husband was stationed at the Fleet Air Arm base, and she lived in married quarters and in a shared flat. She and her husband later moved to Guernsey, in the Channel Islands, before emigrating to Australia in 1950.

When she left England, family members told Mackie she would never have old bones, and she delighted in proving them wrong.

Mackie and her husband lived at Redcliffe, Petrie and Sandgate. She worked at the Pelaco factory making shirts, and at the Golden Circle cannery, before eventually taking an aged care role at Eventide.

Having always loved music she returned to her studies at age 50 and achieved a Music Teaching Diploma. A gifted pianist, she and daughter Valerie adopted the Suzuki method of teaching and at 80 she went to a music conference in Ireland.

Bolton Clarke Chairman Pat McIntosh and Brisbane City Council Chairman of Council, Councillor Angela Owen, welcomed new members and presented them with a book of historic images of Brisbane and surrounding areas.

"Bolton Clarke launched the Centenarian Club last year to create new opportunities to honour and record the lives of our clients and residents, build their relationships with their communities and each other and reinforce their sense of identity and continuation of their story," Mr McIntosh said.

"We've been pleased this year to welcome more than 20 new centenarians among our south-east Queensland clients and residents, and many more across Australia."

EMERGENCY SERVICES TAKE TO LAND, SEA AND AIR FOR BRIBIE EXPO

The latest emergency vehicles including a lifesaving helicopter and rescue boats will descend on the Bribie foreshore in an exciting display on Sunday, October 14 for the 2018 Combined Emergency Services Expo.

From SES and police to ambulance and rural fire services, Queensland's leading emergency services will converge on the island's Volunteer Marine Rescue (VMR) base at Bellara from 10am for the expo, in a push to encourage disaster preparedness ahead of the upcoming storm season.

VMR Bribie Island Commodore Liz Radajewski, said VMR was proud to again host the free event and said attendees would be captivated with helicopter rescues and simulated bushfire displays by the Westpac Life Saver chopper as well as the QFRS water cannon, life raft deployments and an appearance by the Little Squirt Fire Engine.

"The Emergency Services Expo is about getting communities ready and showcasing what frontline staff from all do during a disaster event," Ms Radajewski said.

"By showing you what can happen in the worst case scenario and demonstrating how you can prepare for a storm or bushfire, we're hoping that we won't ever have to deploy technologies like the jaws of life or perform a swift water rescue when a disaster hits."

Moreton Bay Regional Council Division 1 Councillor Brooke Savage said the Bribie expo was the state's leading combined emergency services event.

"The expo is not only a great day out for the whole family, but a fantastic opportunity to be prepared. If we can take away something from the day and prepare, we can accomplish a lot as a community," Cr Savage said.

"As a parent, I know young ones will learn heaps and have fun watching the rescue helicopter fly high above the passage and seeing the lights and sirens of fire trucks, police cars and marine rescue boats."

The Combined Emergency Services Expo will also include a jumping castle, children's fire engine, stalls and a sausage sizzle.

MY HUSBAND HAS LEFT ME

Hello Leonie,

I am writing to you after day twenty of my husband leaving me. We have been living with strain for very many years.

We used to be quite the couple. We had a thriving real estate business during the nineties which we sold to move to Queensland. We travelled extensively, and we lived well, met wonderful people and had quite the adventure.

Things have changed as my husband has lost his zest for life and states that he would like to live in the present and enjoy retirement. He says that he can no longer stand to listen to me living in the past and that he wants to get on with the business of living.

I don't want to forget the past because we were so happy, particularly when the children were at home with us. One is now in Germany and the other has married and now lives in Perth. We are in our early sixties and a separation was the last thing on my mind. I thought that my husband would just go and blow off steam and then come back home but he has rented a villa house and has sent his brother for some of his things.

I can't bear the thought of the solicitors and all that dreadful business. He actually said to me that we are not dead yet. What a terrible thing to say. Isn't it quite normal to look back over our lives with pride and cheer and have lively discussions about it? I just don't believe that he could leave over this one thing. Hoping you could help?

Nolene/Kippa Ring

Hi Nolene,

After reading this email sounds it to me that you are indeed living in the past. While we are constantly looking back over the past we are not watching where we are going or paying attention to our experiences today.

Examining our past does assist us to identify the mistakes we have made, make changes where necessary and celebrate our successes, but it's best not to linger there. There's an old saying that can be quite apt, "The only thing you get from looking back too long is a sore neck" As we live we are constantly creating a past just by letting the time go by.

If you are not living in the NOW and enjoying your life experiences as you move through them and planning and looking forward to new life adventures, you are not really living. You can become like a ghost looking back at the life you had. You can't really move forward with your life if you are driving in reverse gear or always looking in the rear-view mirror.

In your particular case, you want to recapture the happiness of the past, but there are some people who are constantly looking back wishing that they had done or said something different, hoping for some kind of redemption, or perhaps a different outcome with a failed relationship. This is futile. Making mistakes is part of the human condition and the best we can hope for is to learn from them and take this knowledge into the future, so we can avoid making the same mistakes again. It is our past experiences that makes us who we are and contributes to our belief system and code of ethics. However, it's never too late to change who you are, reassess your beliefs and rethink your code of ethics. Some people are more comfortable living in the past because they like the certainty of it and the fact that they were young, healthy and vibrant and that is the way they want to stay forever and are actually pining for the past.

Often people who have been quite successful but whom are now retired and are not so well recognised, find themselves clinging to the past and the identity that they once had. I feel that this may be where you are at the moment.

It's always worth asking, "What is it that makes the future so unattractive?" Could it be that you feel like the future has nothing to hold for you? Are you afraid of mortality or growing old? Were you someone of such great importance, if only in your own eyes, that you feel sure that you can't replicate this greatness? Have you failed to put enough money away to live comfortably in your retirement? Perhaps you could do some soul searching about this and this may help you to reconnect with your husband.

You say that you can't believe that he could leave over this one thing. You may benefit by coming to understand that this "one thing" has been on going and impacting your husband's happiness for years. I wonder if you told him that you now understand what a great impact your behaviour has had on his quality of life and that you are willing to change, if he would consider relationship counselling to try to save your marriage.

Til next week, Leonie

YOUR STARS

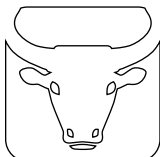

AQUARIUS. (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19): You don't like brats - especially overaged ones. Nevertheless, you'll soon see the last of them so play along for now.

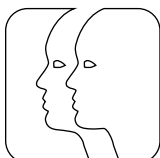

PISCES. (Feb. 20 - March 20): Being a little hardnosed doesn't hurt. It makes people appreciate when you're cooperative. Besides you've done all the bending you can.

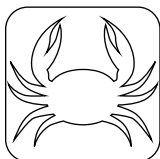

ARIES. (March 21 - April 20): It's time to get serious about a certain property or family matter. But what looks like an open and shut case isn't. It will take longer than you think.

TAURUS. (April 21 - May 21): Attempts to improve a situation may be futile if the other party is set against it. Be sure you stand a chance before making the effort.

GEMINI. (May 22 - June 21): Don't be too quick to quit the scene. There's a good chance that what looks problematic holds the key to your salvation.

CANCER. (June 22 - July 23): Whenever a colleague says a feat is impossible you find a way to make it doable. This is good but remember that it's other person who needs to step up to the plate; not you.

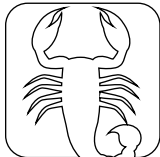

LEO. (July 24 - Aug. 23): Resist the impulse to draw comparisons when a friend unloads. You should be commiserating, not competing for the title of most long suffering.

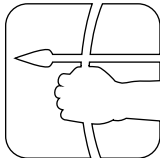

VIRGO. (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23): The return of an old friend is more than coincidence. She has a valuable role to play. Bring her up to date on developments.

LIBRA. (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23): You don't like being dictated to, but if you cooperated then things wouldn't get heavy-handed. Yield and the other person yields back.

SCORPIO. (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22): You see the fly in the ointment that others can't. Take this time to figure out a solution so that it's ready when you hear the telltale shriek.

SAGITTARIUS. (Nov. 23 - Dec. 21): Criticisms sting and you're close to walking. But is there any truth to them? If so, address it. You'd only recreate this situation elsewhere.

CAPRICORN. (Dec. 22 - Jan. 20): Insecurities are busy painting worse case scenarios. Put them out of your mind and trust in your creative process.

Great Northern Garden of Remembrance

31-35 Tallowood Drive, Deception Bay

OPEN DAY

The Management and Staff of the Great Northern Garden of Remembrance

Invite you to our Annual Open Day Saturday 20th October from 10:00am~3.00pm

This free event aims to showcase our beautiful premises and memorial gardens whilst allaying fears and dispelling the myths and concerns that surround cremation. We feel it is important that people understand how the facility works, so they do not feel fearful of what is a straight-forward process, carried out with great care, sensitivity and dignity. It is also a great opportunity to meet industry representatives from the Public Trustee, Sureplan and Centrelink and get advice on the best ways to prepare for the future.

Entertainment from Joe the Piper, who will be wandering the grounds playing the bagpipes. The Caboolture Community Choir will perform a short concert in our chapel from 11 – 11:30am.

All day sausage sizzle, free ice creams plus tea, coffee and cakes in our refreshment room.

Celebrating 21 years serving the Moreton Bay Community

Please RSVP by Friday 19th October for catering purposes on 3888 6622 or 3888 3998

NORTH LAKES COMMUNITY WOMEN'S GROUP INC. NEWS

October's General Meeting was fun and varied, including updates on our upcoming events, a 10 year presentation to one of our members, a 'one off' raffle, birthday celebrations for our October ladies and a few jokes thrown in for good measure.

On top of all that, we were also joined by a Guest Speaker from Gold River Jewellers, North Lakes, who spoke to us about pearls – all of the different types, how to care for them and options for restoration. This proved to be so popular that we look forward to a return visit, next time to talk about diamonds.

Tuesday 23rd October – Our 15th Birthday Lunch – Waters Edge Scarborough. Members only.

Tuesday 30th October – 5th Tuesday of the month - Bus trip to Harbour Town. Members only.

Tuesday 6th November - This is Melbourne Cup Day and everyone will make their own arrangements for this day.

Our meetings are open to all women in North Lakes/Mango Hill-Moretton Bay District. For more information please contact Trish 0447 071 221 or Sue 0418 785 944.

OPENING THE DOORS TO RENTING REFORM

Have your say to help shape the future of renting in Queensland, ensuring better protection for tenants and property owners

According to the ABS, in the Moreton Bay Region nearly a third of us rent (31.6% or 46,719 people in total at the last census). Now, those renting can raise their voice by completing a short online survey or by visiting a community consultation event. Your feedback will help inform a review of the Residential Tenancies and Rooming Accommodation Act 2008.

The state-wide consultation by the Queensland Government is to help shape the future of renting in Queensland, ensuring better protection for tenants and property owners.

To start the process, renters, landlords and real estate agents will be contacted and asked for their views, how the market is changing and how well the system is working.

This is a key part of the Government's 'Open Doors to Renting Reform' consultation process announced today.

Feedback will also be sought from landlords and the rental property industry in a bid to protect all involved and to improve housing stability for people living in the private market.

Premier Annastacia Palaszczuk said all Queenslanders deserve a safe, secure and sustainable home, and we know that many Queenslanders see investing in rental properties as a way of securing their financial future.

"My Government wants Queensland to have contemporary residential tenancy laws that protect tenants and property owners alike and improve stability in the rental market," the Premier said.

"The last full-scale review and changes to the tenancy regulations dates back to 1970's. It's well and truly time for another now."

"Queensland has one of the highest proportions of people renting in Australia, and many will rent for part or all of their lives."

"Currently 34% of Queensland households are finding their homes in the rental market and many a renting for longer."

"In fact, 43% of tenants have been renting for over 10 years."

42% of families rent in the private sector.

A national tenant survey released jointly in 2017 by CHOICE, National Shelter, and National Association of Tenant Organisations reported a range of concerns from tenants:

- 62% feel they can't ask for change.
- 50% fear being blacklisted on a tenancy data base.
- 21% said they had waited more than 7 days for urgent repairs.
- 20% have had maintenance issues.
- 8% live in a home in need of urgent repairs.

Rental property owners have also expressed concern that when things go wrong, such as rent arrears or evicting tenants, it comes at a high cost, and rental bonds may not cover all expenses they incur at the end of a tenancy.

The average cost to replace a tenant at the end of a fixed term lease is $1800.

Minister for Housing and Public Works Mick de Brenni said we want to make sure those living in rental accommodation can enjoy a decent standard of living and that property owners have well managed properties.

"Over the next three months, I want the state-wide consultation to come up with answers as to how can people better enforce their rights and how can competing interests be managed better," Mr de Brenni said

IN THE MORETON BAY REGION NEARLY A THIRD OF US RENT

"Many tenants have raised with me that it is difficult to hang your kids school photos or paintings on the wall in rental properties."

"Australians have one of the highest rates of pet ownership in the world with 62 per cent of households keeping a pet, however only 10% of rental properties have pets living in them."

"How can we make it easier for landlords and tenants to agree on having a pet?"

"How can we make it easier for tenants to add finishing touches to their home, without causing damage that would be costly for property owners?"

"Property owners have raised with me that they want to see regular inspections to properties and for repairs to be addressed more quickly to ensure their investments are protected"

"And while Tenancy legislation provides the framework and processes to follow, sometimes things go wrong.

"People may have to take further action, such as dispute resolution through the Residential Tenants Authority, or going to the Queensland Civil and Administrative Authority to get orders enforced.

"For both property owners and tenants, this can be time consuming and challenging and they may require further support."

Deputy Premier and Member for South Brisbane Jackie Trad said the Government wanted to shape any reforms from the experiences of tenants and landlords alike.

"Here in my community of South Brisbane we have a particularly high proportion of renters, with over 61 per cent of households being rentals. Of those almost half of renters are in apartments," Ms Trad said.

"I hear from my community all the time that these laws need reforming and that protections need to be stepped up.

"We want to hear from as many residents as possible about what they want to see changed.

"At the last election we committed to introducing minimum standards to rental properties and we know there's more things to be done to help make renting fairer for everyone."

The Open Doors to Renting Reform consultation program is being conducted by the Department of Housing and Public Works in conjunction with the Residential Tenancies Authority (RTA), and aims to ensure the Residential Tenancies and Rooming Accommodation Act 2008 provides better protections for tenants and property owners and increases stability in the rental market.

The consultation runs from 30 September until 30 November 2018, featuring a range of consultation activities including pop-up kiosks at markets and shopping centres where people can share their views and experience of renting in Queensland.

The website, survey and a discussion paper as well as information on the dates and locations of consultation events can be found at: www.yoursayhpw.engagementhq.com/rentinginqueensland

The online survey can be found at www.getinvolved.qld.gov.au or you can email rentinginqlld@hpw.qld.gov.au or share your thoughts on social media using the hashtag #rentinginqlld.

SELLER SAYS

FANTASTIC AGENT

George did a fantastic job in helping us sell our investment property so that we could make a move to the coast in our retirement. He is a great communicator and from the very beginning he did a sensational job of keeping us updated every step of the way.

Nothing was too much trouble and he was always available and willing to answer any queries we had. The entire process went very smoothly and we actually secured a buyer before our first open home.
